Chrastil's Crushers

Because of the loss of the leadership of a couple senior players the football team had to work harder than usual. The members had to work hard and together just as a family would. It may have been hard at times, but the players had to remember that in order to have a team they needed to work together.

The freshmen as well as the seniors were essential to the team. The team usually played to their best ability and together shared the joys of winning and the sorrows of losing. Whether winning or losing the team managed to work and stay together as a family usually does.

Third Row: Jim Smith, Ken Keller, Lance Bobolz, Robbie Parks, Craig Slepicka, Don Bruha, Jim Axline, Pat Harling, and in the back Coach Chrastil and Coach Pohl.

The 1982 Volleyball season was a great success, boasting a 14-7 record. Some of the accomplishments included: 3rd place in the B division of the MUDECUS Tournament; 2nd place in the Friend Invitational; 3rd place in the Meridian Tournament; and District Runner-Ups. The regular starters included Brenda Bobolz, Mary Bolton, Rochelle Bruha, Sharla Filipi, Brenda Zoubek, Colleen Pliva, and Connie Kahle. The upperclassmen added the depth that was needed while the underclassmen contributed extra determination. Both groups gave qualities we couldn't have succeeded without.

Best Season Ever

Twenty wrestlers helped make the 1983 Dorchester Wrestling team one of the most successful teams ever. After second and third place finishes in the first two invitationals the grapplers went on to win six consecutive invitational titles capped by the best finish at district in the school history. Eight wrestlers earned berths in the state championship. Darrell Lisec earned a fifth place state medal. Team records were set for most wins and most pins, as well as a state record for most points in a season.

Intersquad and reserve competitions were the key to team success. Hard work and willingness to win helped this team continue the winning tradition now established at Dorchester. "The past, present, and future look great for Dorchester wrestling" Ed Kasl.

season

The Lady Longhorns Basketball team suffered severe growing pains during the 1982-83 season. The squad was made up of 3 seniors, 3 juniors, 3 sophomores and 4 freshmen. Although the team finished with a 3 win — 14 loss record, the experience of team work, team dedication and personal commitment will carry the girls to greater heights in the future.

The team was basically a young club, with only two seniors. The season ended with 8 wins and 12 losses. Seven of the twelve losses were by 6 or less points. Three of the remaining five losses were to rated class "C" teams. The team captured 3rd place in the Mudecas class B Division. The future should be aided by the reserve team which won eight of twelve games. Six of the eight lettermen will return next year, so the future looks good for the Longhorns.

Working to improve

The girls' track team through hard work and determination showed steady improvement through the year, just like a family working together. Finishing with a fine performance at Districts, the young team shows promise for the future. The girls show-up marks the ninth straight year for a top 5th finish at Districts.

Track team works hard

The boys' track team improved throughout the year. They worked hard, practicing mostly indoors because of the weather. It was a strong team which pulled for everyone. There were more boys in track this year, a total of 18 boys, than in past years which helped the team to place higher at the events and have Dorchester represented in all events. Three tracksters qualified for the State Meet, all were close but did not place. They were Dan Burianek in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles, Don Zahourek in the discus, and Eddie Moore in the 1600-meter run. The team is young and shows promise for the future.

Dear Friends;

Dorchester Public School is a nice place I enjoy school. My favorite class is Spanish. My favorite teachers are Mrs. Faimon and Mrs. Ottmann. Sometimes in school I feel alone, I guess this is because I don't really understand teenagers all that well.

At school I have many good friends. Brenda Loubek and Mary Bolton are my best friends. Connie, Cathy, and Mariah are also very good friends.

I stay with the Walters Family, they are very nice people, sometimes I have problems, but, it's normal. I enjoy talking to my American Family.

Dorchester is a nice town, fresh air and pretty landscape, I know many places.

The United States is a very beautiful place. I think I have learned many things in here. I know a wonderful family, They are the Hampton Family. I say thank you very much to the Principal, Mr. Prapp, and Mrs. Reis A.R. and every body THANK'S..

I never forget this experience, It is really special.

Your friend, Isabel Osobor..

Isabel Escobar enjoyed our school and doing what the students do. Here she is on a home-ec field trip.

Learning as a family

To learn is the main purpose of our school. We do not go to play football or basketball or to be in band; we go to learn. In the school, more often than not, we see the pupils studying or doing things that tie in with their lesson. On these pages, we see people busy working, listening, or doing what is needed for their classes. If it were not for academics, school would be almost like a summer camp. But people need an education to prepare them for the business world. From kindergarten to 12th grade, people are prepared to go out and conquer the world!

Mrs. Rasmussen works with 4th graders on an experiment.

Jody Heeren reads to some children at the play school.

Angie Luzum enjoys playing with the children.

Jenny Weber works on her art project.

Connie gets "egg-cited" about her egg tree.

Scott enjoys a game of dominoes.

The Theme of Honors Night.

Honors Night was sponsored by the National Honor Society, so of course they led the induction of new members. All of the old members had certain jobs to do, before that night, to make sure that everything would run smoothly, and it did. There were many individual awards such as best speech student, best trigonometry student, and the John Philip Sousa award for band, but working together as a family was also stressed with awards for the entire Annual Staff, the Band, and the Chorus. There was a reception afterward, where everyone congratulated everyone else.

The last fling

This year's Prom again took place at Misty's in Lincoln. The theme was "We Shall Never Pass This Way Again" and the colors were shades of blue. The guest speaker was Jeremiah "Jay" Maher and the Prom was a family reunion for this former Dorchester teacher.

Everyone was impressed with how nice everyone else looked, since formal wear isn't usually part of our normal wardrobe. This year's Prom brought the Juniors and Seniors closer together as they dined and danced together. This was the last family fling before the Seniors graduated and left the nest.

Pep Club yells on

The Orange and Black Club, more commonly known as the Pep Club, has had a tremendous turnout of students in the 1982-83 school year. These students worked very hard in raising school spirit and promoting the good name of our school.

Although there were many conflicts they were overcome with the writing of a new constitution. There is now a new merit system in which the members can letter and a new policy that all home games and fifty percent of away games are required for attendance.

The officers for the 1982-83 school year were: Connie Skalak — President, Barb Heeren — Vice President, and Becky Harling — Secretary-Treasurer. Wrestling cheerleaders were: Brenda Zoubek — head, Sharla Filipi, Linda Crees, and Carrie Burkey. Basketball cheerleaders were: Brenda Bobolz — overall head, Rochelle Bruha, Lisa Frahm, and Angie Luzum. Pep Club Sponsors were Deb Faimon and Carol Newsom. The D.H.S. Band

Our music tree is a strong tree. Most of our branches are young but they are hybrid varieties. We've weathered many experiences like halftime shows, concerts and contests. Some branches bloomed alone or in small groups, taking a chance at a superior contest rating. But all remained strong.

And as a tree earns a new ring each year, our musical tree has also earned a new ring and will be back stronger than ever for another year.

Fifteen talented people made up the speech team this year. Since thirteen qualified for State Competition you can see this is true. They also won District which was held at Dorchester this year. The school play this year was entitled "Harvey". The group of actors and actresses had a new learning experience with a new sponsor, Miss Kennedy. There were many times when both the actors and director were not sure they'd pull the play off or not. But, they did.

There were many long hours spent learning lines, both on stage as well as off. The group had morning, noon, and evening rehearsals, yet almost everyone kept their spirits high.

The editorial staff relaxes at a Doane seminar.

Mrs. Ottman was the new sponsor for the annual staff this year. Under her supervision the kids on the staff got things done quickly and efficiently. Barb Heeren served as editor. The theme of this year's book "We Are All One Big Family" was chosen because we felt we work together and cooperate as a family.

Barb Kovar sorts through some pictures.

National Honor Society

The Honor Society is composed of our school's leaders. These people led the school in academics, extracurricular activities, and pride. Connie Kahle, Mariah Ottmann, Becky Harling, and Candy Justa were new members this year. They joined Brenda Zoubek, Sandy Jirsa, Brenda Bobolz, Jim Stehlik, Cathy Axxline, and Dave Palky is being our school's leaders.

Not only an end, but a beginning

Valedictorian, Cathy Axline gives her speech.

Dave Palky reads his salutatorian speech.

It was end of another school year and the end of Dorchester High for the seniors, but it was also a new beginning. May 14 came very early for many seniors and it was their last time to be a family together.

Some of the seniors shed many tears, but the tears were all worth while for in just this last hour the seniors were saying good-bye to their friends and classmates they have had since the beginning of school. They had become one big family and now they go their separate ways. Remembering the good and bad times brought laughter and tears, but saying good-bye this time was probably one of their hardest tasks. How do you say good-bye to your friends?

Eleven out of seventeen seniors went to school together all thirteen years.

There are many branches to our family tree and definately one of the most important is the terrific group of people who connect us together. These people are our personnel. They are the lifeline of our school system. They do the jobs which no one else has time for. They do our cooking, cleaning, driving, and many other jobs for us. Thanks to them our family is successful.

The elementary children are our "little brothers and sisters." However, they're not so little anymore — they're growing up fast with the help of their teachers who, for some of the children are like second parents. The kids are learning as fast as they grow.

Some think school is "neat" and "funner" than being at home. Others wish they were home. But no matter how they feel about school, they all pull together like a family and work to make the year the best it can be.

The freshmen have contributed much to the Longhorn family. They have a spirit and energy all their own. They have not only contributed to the sports side but also to the academic side.

Like other families, the Freshmen have had a few bad experiences but have learned from them. And know how important it is to stick together with their own little family and the rest of the school.

Juniors involved in growing.

The Juniors. What can you say. They truly functioned as a family this year. Everyone was involved in different activities, whether it was athletics, speech, working on annual staff, or just plain old homework. They all did their own thing, and yet were a strong and important part of the group.

The class was busy selling magazines and planning prom this year. They acted like a typical family. There were hassles and arguments, but with the everpresent leadership of their parents, Mrs. Williams and Mr. Schulz, the job got done.

With another year worked through, the juniors look forward to being the oldest family on the tree — the Seniors.

We're finally Seniors!

A small, but one happy family. Through the last thirteen years these seniors have been involved in many different activities, learned a lot, and have been through good times and bad, but through all of it, they have become closer to each other.

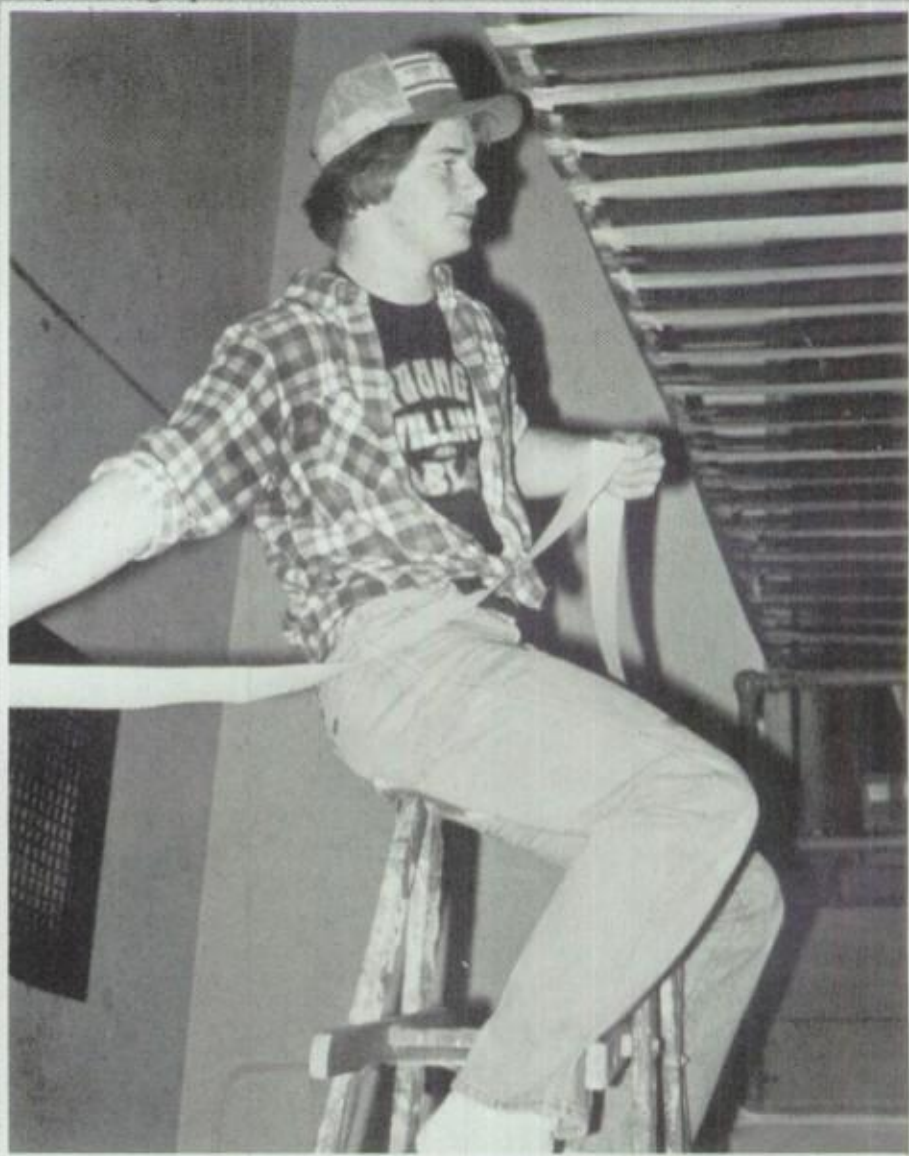

Many seniors were involved in volleyball, football, basketball, track, and cheerleading, as well as drama and speech. They were very active in pep club, D club, and drama club. Spirit week was a popular time for them, as most of them dressed up and competed every day. Their week ended with decorating the gym, for the homecoming dance, which was interrupted by their long awaited fire truck ride.

Some unknown and known talents shown through in academics this year. Many seniors took the new Spanish class and learned this unique language. The seniors found some of their lost creativity in the poetry they wrote in English, which proved to be an interesting class, as did most of the seniors' classes. Almost the entire class has plans for continuing their education and possibly finding out about other hidden talents.

The seniors had awaited the year for a long time, but after it was here, they agreed it just went too fast.

CRETE NEWS

It's been a good year.

There's been hard work — together . . .

*Full class loads,
Difficult practices,
Numerous rehearsals,
All Together.*

And yet,

There's been fun — together . . .

*Class parties,
Field trips,
Prom,
All Together.*

There have been changes.

Together

*We've said good-bye to the seniors
Hello to new freshmen.*

*We've each had victories
And we've each had losses.
We've each been different.*

And yet,

*We've all been united
Together
Like a family.*

It's been a good year.
